

My name is Jonathan Webb, though I have been called Jack my entire life (confusing I know.) I am currently an IMT doctor working in Manchester. My main interests are medical education, cardiology and acute medicine. Outside of work I love cooking, I enjoy most sports and recently I have been attempting several over-ambitious walks in the peak district.