

Dr Alistair Sawyerr graduated from University of Manchester Medical School in 2008 and completed his anaesthetic training across Yorkshire and the North West, gaining his CCT in 2019.

He has worked as a Consultant Anaesthetist at North Manchester General Hospital since then, where his clinical practice focuses on obstetric and head and neck anaesthesia, particularly complex airway and maxillofacial work.

He is passionate about education and trainee development and has served as College Tutor since 2021.

Outside the hospital, Alistair enjoys travelling, discovering new food and cultures, attending live music events, and is a recent convert to running.
