

Hello my name is Professor Madhavi Paladugu and I have been a Consultant Paediatrician (with a special interest in Neonates, Infectious Diseases and Neuro developmental problems) since 2000 and the Hospital Dean for Undergraduate Medical Education since 2015, here at Lancashire Teaching Hospitals.

I have always been passionate about medical education and completed both a Diploma in 2011 and an MSc in 2015 in Medical Education. Furthermore, I gained my initial qualifications and MD Paediatrics in Warangal, India and have trained at Bolton, Burnley and around the Northwest region before taking up my Consultant Paediatrician post at Royal Preston Hospital. I am a Royal College of Paediatrics Examiner, Member of the RCPCH Exam Boards, educational team which means I regularly contribute towards the training, exam setting and assessment for Paediatric trainees. I hope to bring my varied experience and knowledge to the Council, to drive forward excellence and engagement from both Trainees and Paediatricians and inspire the budding future Paediatricians.
