

Hello, my name is Michael Nickson and I'm a final year medical student at the University of Lancashire. I have a keen interest in anaesthetics and intensive care medicine, as well as how we can make medicine and surgery more sustainable and greener. I have worked on a variety of projects on sustainability, with a particular focus on anaesthetics. I have previously been a representative for the British Medical Association (BMA), working on the committee as a representative for my university.

Before studying medicine I completed a BSc in Biomedical Sciences from Newcastle University.

In my free time I enjoy going to gigs and concerts, cooking and watching Blackburn Rovers, although sometimes this is not enjoyable!!!

I look forward to working as a council member with MMS!
