

Mr Aziz Gulamhusein is a Consultant Urological and Robotic Surgeon with a specialist interest in complex open and minimally invasive abdominal surgery. His NHS practice is based at The Christie NHS Foundation Trust where he primarily manages patients with urological cancers, including kidney cancer, testicular cancer, retroperitoneal sarcoma and prostate cancer. He completed his undergraduate training at Sheffield Medical School, before pursuing specialist urological training within the Yorkshire region and a subsequent robotic fellowship in London and Denmark.