

I am a consultant medical microbiologist working at Tameside Hospital where I have worked for over forty three years. I studied Medicine with an integrated B.Sc.(Hons) in Physiology at Manchester Medical School, then worked in The Middlesex and St Thomas' Hospitals, then in the Streptococcus Reference Laboratory at Colindale, all in London, before moving back to Manchester in 1979.