

Dr Sunil Bagewadi did his paediatric training in India & the Northwest. He is currently working as a consultant paediatrician with special interest in diabetes and clinical director for paediatric services at the Royal Oldham Hospital. He is the training programme director for the School of Paediatrics and has previously served as the Northwest regional adviser for RCPCH.