

I am a Colorectal and General Surgeon in Wrightington Wigan and Leigh Teaching Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust, Wigan. I was trained in the Northwest and completed an advanced laparoscopic and robotic colorectal fellowship at the St. James's University Hospital, Leeds, UK and the prestigious Cleveland Clinic, Ohio Main Campus, in the US. I specialize in advanced laparoscopic/robotic colorectal cancer and IBD work. I am actively involved in academia, working as a PI for various national and regional trials registered in our trust and as a divisional research lead for the surgical directorate in my trust. I was recently appointed as an MRCS examiner for the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow and Associate Editor for the Journal of Medical Applied Sciences (JMAS). I previously worked as an Honorary tutor for the Hull York Medical School and OSCE examiner for Manchester University.